

Mayor Should Have Called Election For Deputy-Reeve - Dales

Quoting the municipal act, Councillor Joseph Dales told Mayor Vale that he should have called for an election of a deputy-reeve in Newmarket this summer. Mr. Dales said the act made it plain that it was up to the mayor to call the election when there was a vacancy, that it be held 15 days after the mayor "issues a warrant".

"Then I guess I have been re-miss," the mayor said. "But I go on the wishes of council. I will be happy to issue a warrant if council wishes it and I will be happy not to issue a warrant if council wishes," he said.

"It seems to me that the calling of an election is up to the mayor. The act does not allow him to use his discretion," Councillor Dales said.

Reeve Evans said that he thought after September 1, council could appoint a member of council to fill the vacancy, before October 1.

"I am loath to put the town to the expense of an election at this time of the year," said the mayor. "We are expecting a lot of expense, especially if the Main St. project goes through."

Members of council assumed that if a councillor ran for the office of deputy-reeve, he would have to resign his seat on council to do so. There would be an election at the same time, to fill the vacancy left by him on council.

Councillor Boyd asked Mr. Stiver, the town solicitor, if the act said an election was necessary. "I would say yes," said the solicitor.

The mayor said he would act on a resolution by council. Councillor Dales said that he would not make the motion. No one else would make the motion and there was no further discussion on the subject.

47 BOYS ON OUTING TO WILLOW BEACH

Forty-seven young boys were in the Newmarket Recreation Commission party to Willow Beach park on Saturday and in spite of the rain, enjoyed the swimming.

Chairman of the commission Joe Dales and eight Optimists were in charge of the group. Although it was raining heavily when the boys' bus reached the lake, they changed into bathing suits and were in the water in a matter of seconds.

Later there were ball games, running races, wheelbarrow races and sack races. There was free pop and chocolate bars and 30 prizes were given out.

Among the prize winners were Ralph and Vern Abbott, Ken Shropshire, Keith Burling, John Pitt, Ken Weir, Larry Bone, Tom Wadsworth, Don Bone, Don Deavitt, Bill Harkness, Ralph Bray, Ken Paul, Len Abbott, Howard Blair, Ralph Emerson, John McKnight, Gary Mundy, Doug Rush and Norm Darragh.

Chairman Dales said a girls' outing will be sponsored next month.

Ridges Man Killed In Front Of Own Home

Robert John Woolley, 53, of Oak Ridges died almost immediately after his own car rolled over him in front of his home on Monday night.

According to witnesses, Mr. Woolley made a wide turn past a car driven by Able Seaman Robert Brown, 20, of Toronto, then attempted to turn into the driveway of his home on the east side of Yonge St. Both cars were travelling north.

The Brown car struck the Woolley car broadside. Brown told police that while north-bound the car ahead of him and on his left, suddenly turned right and into his path. Although he tried to use brakes and swing to the left, he could not avoid the crash.

The Woolley car slewed around to hit the bank of a shallow ditch. The momentum had thrown the driver out of the car and it rolled on top of him, pinning him against the bank.

Brown, and his passenger, Roger Wade, 18, Toronto made an unsuccessful attempt to lift the car. Timothy Woolley, son of Robert Woolley, ran from the house and with the help of motorists, lifted the car from his father.

Dr. C. R. Boulding, Aurora, who was passing at the time, tried to treat Woolley. Mr. Woolley's wife and his daughter, Mrs. E. L. Burns, passengers, were both treated for shock and minor injuries.

HOLD SUTTON FAIR AUGUST 7, 8, 9

The annual Sutton Fair and Horse Show is being held on August 7, 8 and 9 this year. There will be an extra steeplechase event this year. Although the fair starts August 7, the horse division's show is only on the two days, Friday and Saturday, August 8 and 9. One of the features of this year's fair will be a tractor rodeo. The Department of Agriculture has been sponsoring a tractor maintenance club at Sutton and some of its members will compete on a special tractor course.

In the tractor rodeo on Thursday, contestants will drive around the marked course, hitch to a farm wagon and draw it round the same course and back up to a loading platform.

During the first six months of this year, the death toll in Ontario from highway traffic accidents reached a total of 381. In June alone, 78 died. During the last holiday week-end, the traffic toll began to climb and kept on climbing. No one could calculate the total of what those deaths mean in sorrow, loss to the community, loss to the years. Keep your holiday safe. Drive carefully.

Services Held For Allen Jackson At Trinity Church

Funeral services for Allen Jackson, 19, who was killed in an R.C.A.F. crash on Friday, were held at Trinity United church on Tuesday afternoon. The service at the church was conducted by Rev. M. J. Aiken, assisted by two R.C.A.F. padres. Airmen formed a special guard and friends from the R.C.A.F. university contingent were pallbearers.

Allen Jackson was killed on a routine training flight near Colborne, north of Trenton. Air force officials said he was practicing spins and stalls on Friday, part of a pilot's training. It is believed that his craft did not recover from a spin. Officials said he was killed instantly.

He had completed his first year in a chemical engineering course at the University of Toronto and started summer training in the R.C.A.F. in May. He was a flight cadet in the air force under a scheme for training university students.

He completed a six weeks indoctrination course at Kingston and then went to Trenton to take a pilot training course. He had a number of flying hours under instruction and solo as well.

Allen was a brilliant student, attended both Newmarket public and high schools. Two years ago he won the Newmarket Canadian Legion essay contest, went on to win the Legion district contest and the provincial contest. On the topic, Canadian Citizenship, he was chosen first from students from all over Ontario.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Jackson, he is survived by his parents, sister Eileen and brother, Donald.

Many friends from Newmarket, the air force and the university filled Trinity church auditorium on Tuesday. A funeral party of 60 airmen was in the charge of W.O. 1 John Silver. Rev. Aiken was assisted by Flt.

Continue With Plans For Low Rental Houses

Negotiations for a new low rental housing development on Eagle St. between Newmarket and the department of planning and development are still proceeding.

A draft agreement was reviewed by council on Monday night.

The plan outlined by a representative of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation two months ago remains essentially the same. Mayor Vale explained that Newmarket would deduct a percentage of the taxes on each of the houses, equal to the percentage of cost which the government is subsidizing on each house.

Newmarket will pay for municipal services to the edge of the subdivision. Work on streets will be done by the town but the cost will be paid back to the town by the government.

If such a housing development were started, determination of rents and collection of rents would be handled by a local housing authority appointed by the department, according to the mayor. Rents would be set according to family income.

LACK DECISION, RENT CONTROLS TO BE CONTINUED HERE

Rent control is to remain in Newmarket, for the time being, at least. A special committee of town council met on Monday to consider rent restrictions.

Legislative measures offered towns of Newmarket's size, the choice of ending rent control locally or continuing as in the past. After discussion, the committee could not reach a unanimous decision so it is assumed that controls will remain.

Provincial authorities had advised that Newmarket continue controls, according to one councillor, but were offering a choice anyway.

It is believed that rent controls will be lifted by the province in seven or eight months.

AUTOMATIC TYPE OF GEAR SHIFT BLAMED FOR CHILD'S DEATH

A car was started accidentally through its automatic transmission and out of control, it rolled down a street in Queensville, hit a hydro pole and then rolled on and killed four-year-old Kenneth Townslee, Toronto.

The accident happened on Mill St., Queensville, on Saturday. Mrs. Herbert Thompson, Spruce St., Newmarket, who was climbing into her husband's car, accidentally stepped on the accelerator while the motor was running and in the automatic transmission gear. She was entering the car from the left and Andrew Thompson, Mount Albert, was getting in on the right. Her husband was waiting to take the wheel.

The car started forward and glanced off a pole. A few hundred feet down the street, Kenneth Townslee was playing. The car rolled on and struck him. Mrs. Thompson said she did not know how to drive a car and could not stop it.

"Cars have become too automatic," said Dr. W. C. Arkinstall, Newmarket. "This accident can be blamed on the car's automatic transmission and I'm afraid there will be others."

Chief Constable Joseph Jardine, Queensville, investigated the accident.

RESULT IN 20 LIQUOR CHARGES

Provincial police set up the second series of road blocks of the season on roads leading to Musselman's Lake Saturday night. The result was 20 charges of violation of the Liquor Control Act laid by police officers.

According to Corporal Arthur Harrison of the Vondorf detachment, roadblocks have proved to be successful in cutting down on teen-age drinking at resort dances.

Provincial officers from Thornhill, Whitby and Vondorf detachments took part in the roadblock.

Prepare By-law On Main St. Work, Some Oppose Cost

A by-law calling for the widening and paving of Main St. and rebuilding of sidewalks, together with installation of new municipal services, is expected to be before council soon. A motion to bring in a by-law was made by Reeve Arthur D. Evans Monday night.

Reeve Evans favored the project which, he said, would mean an extra levy of one mill on the Newmarket general tax rate. It will cost Newmarket $104,000.

Other members of council were not so enthused about the project. In fact, the motion did not show that council approved. It was passed to proceed and introduce the by-law which will require discussion and three readings before it is passed or voted down.

Council is introducing the by-law on what the municipal act calls the initiative plan. It will call for a local improvement project, all taxpayers to pay half the cost. The other half of the cost would be levied against Main St. property owners over a period of years.

Mr. Evans said he was definitely in favor of it because it would only mean an extra mill on the tax rate. He said it would cost the town as much if the project were dropped. According to the engineer's estimate, maintenance of the road would cost $3,000 to $4,000 a year if it were left in its present condition.

The reeve informed council previously that York County will pay the cost of putting the centre 22 feet of roadway in good condition and then turn the responsibility of maintenance over to the town. The county has always maintained the centre roadway.

Councillor VanZant, chairman of the road and bridge committee changed his mind since last week and supported the plan. He said that the fact that "$3,000 to $4,000 would have to be spent on upkeep anyway, puts a different light on everything."

Reeve Evans said the Toronto and York roads commission had no authority to make a deal. It had been suggested last week that he and Mr. VanZant see the commission in hopes of obtaining part of the county's budgeted allotment for the road program with the idea of carrying out a smaller project on Main St.

"It is rather the county finance committee which decides the policy, not the commission," said Mr. Evans. "Besides, asking for such a thing puts us in an embarrassing position because Newmarket for years has been asking the county to fix up the street."

Mrs. V. R. MacNaughton said "I would like to see a new Main St. as well as anybody but I am definitely not in favor of spending any more money. I do not think we should go ahead with the project."

If the by-law is passed, council will be required to give notice of the local improvement plan by publication and notices will be served on the owners of lots on Main St.

"If the property owners do not petition against it, we can take it for granted that they are in favor of it," said Mayor Vale. "I would say that if they petition against it, it's dead for good," he added.

"Why should merchants pay on a local improvement basis?" asked Councillor Boyd.

"They are getting the benefit," replied Councillor Renzius. "I don't know that they are getting any more benefit than the average resident," declared Mr. Boyd. "After all, it is the main street. It belongs to everyone."

Councillor Dales also disagreed with a policy of charging Main St. property owners half of the cost.

Mayor Vale said he did not expect the by-law to be before council at the next meeting. "I expect it will take the solicitor some time to prepare it. There is a lot of data to get together," he said.

WHITCHURCH FARM SHOWN IN CONTEST

John Holton was last week's lucky farm photo winner. Mr. Holton owns the 250-acre farm which was pictured in the Era and Express last week and he was into the office on Monday to claim his 30 gift certificates and the framed photograph of his farm.

The farm is located on lot 85, con. 1, Whitchurch, where Mr. Holton has a Guernsey herd of 50. The farm, which he bought four years ago, is better known as the "Buckle" place after its earlier owners. Mr. Holton came from Hamilton.

Each week, the Era and Express prints an air photograph of a district farm. When the owner of that farm recognizes it and comes to the Era and Express office, he receives an enlarged, framed copy of the picture and 30 one dollar gift certificates contributed by the individual district merchants who are co-operating with the paper in this feature. This week's lucky photo can be found on page 13.

Newmarket Trade Fair In Arena For 4 Days 30 Exhibits Planned

Newmarket's fourth annual Trade Fair will be held August 13, 14, 15 and 16 in the Newmarket Arena where 30 businesses will have displays of the latest in their products. Additionally, the Trade Fair will present daily programs including film showings by the department of lands and forests and other special events.

The Trade Fair committee is this year under the chairmanship of R. C. "Bert" Morrison. Preparations have been in the making since last year's Fair closed its doors after a record number of visitors had attended. The committee anticipates a still larger show this year and has made plans to present a wider and still more colorful showing. As last year, there will be numerous prizes and "give-aways" during the duration of the fair. This year, instead of having planned special events to attract the visitors. The arena will be decorated and echoing to music.

The Trade Fair was originally sponsored by the Horticultural Society and held in conjunction with the annual gladiolus show. Last year, the blooms were displayed during the last day of the fair. This year, instead of showing them in the crowded arena, additional space has been found near the arena and the flower show will be in a separate building.

"We've had every co-operation in the preparation of this year's Trade Fair," said Mr. Morrison. "The result is that this year's show will exceed expectations." Although he did not go into details because the individual exhibitors wanted their special attractions "surprise" to the public, Mr. Morrison did forecast an endless variety of interest and entertainment for those attending the show.

"We expect it to be the biggest and best yet," he said.

SAFETY RULES

Don't Take Chances In Water

Water safety has been the topic of several articles in recent issues of the Era and Express. The need for each family to familiarize itself with the rules for safe swimming and boating is emphasized each weekend when another list of drownings are published.

Here are the rules for water safety as laid down by the Swimming and Water Safety division, Canadian Red Cross society. Learn them and teach them to your children. Clip the column and hang it in the boat-house or cottage as a further reminder.

Safe Boating
Don't stand up in a boat or canoe. Learn to handle watercraft. Don't use home-made rafts or logs as boats.

Don't use any boat that is not completely seaworthy.

Don't go out in a small boat unless you are a swimmer or are wearing a life preserver.

Don't change places in a small boat.

Don't leave the boat if it capsizes. Cling to it until rescued.

Don't attempt to swim to shore.

Don't overload any boat, large or small.

Don't go out in a boat in stormy weather.

Don't shoot rapids.

Safe Swimming
Don't swim alone.

Don't swim at unsupervised swimming places.

Don't swim after eating. Wait at least two hours.

Don't swim when overheated. Cool off gradually first.

Don't swim too far from shore. Swim parallel to the shore.

Don't dive into unknown water. Rocks and trees may be hidden.

Don't "duck" or push bathers into water. Playfulness may cost a life.

Don't swim when overtired.

Don't swim after dark unless thoroughly familiar with the swimming area, know it is safe and are accompanied by a "buddy". Stay close to shore.

Don't swim until you become exhausted, particularly if the water is cold.

Don't panic if you should get into difficulties. You must think clearly if you are to do the right thing.

Artificial Respiration
Start resuscitation immediately.

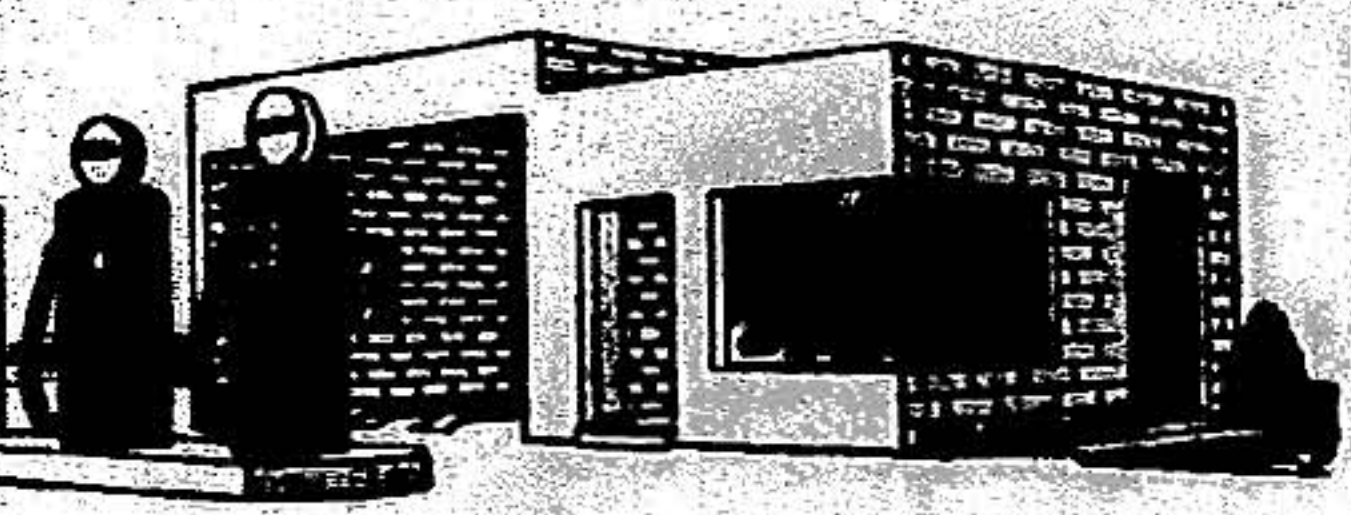

Every second is precious. Each second that the patient is without oxygen reduces the chance of recovery.

Make certain that the air passages are clear. There is always the possibility that a laryngeal spasm may have occurred; and unless it is released it might make artificial respiration ineffective.

Make sure that the tongue is forced in the mouth and not obstructing the air passages.

Don't stop until the victim revives; or, until a doctor pronounces the victim dead; or, until rigor mortis sets in.

SHUR-GAIN FEEDS

For Hogs

"Progress" perhaps is the key word which will explain the great changes which have taken place in Agriculture during the past twenty-five years. Farming has been changed from a way of life to a highly competitive profession. Farm mechanization is the most visible evidence of this changing progress. Startling advances have also been made in animal nutrition. SHUR-GAIN Nutritionists are keeping pace with these new developments in the formulation and development of SHUR-GAIN Hog Feeds.

Those farmers who are willing to accept progress and follow progressive methods of production, will receive a much higher income than those who carry on in the "old way".

The development of SHUR-GAIN Feed Service is a progressive development.

"Old way" feeders require 1100 pounds of straight grain to feed a hog to market weight.

SHUR-GAIN Feeders do exactly the same job on 700 pounds of SHUR-GAIN Hog Feeds or less. SHUR-GAIN Feeders make more net income. Keep records - feed SHUR-GAIN Hog Feeds and you will be amazed at the profits which can be made feeding hogs commercially.

Stuart Starr Writes

Stuart Starr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Starr, Pine Orchard, left for England earlier this month. While there, he is attending a conference of Quakers. Later, he hopes to visit the Continent. Here is the first of his letters, written from Rose-hill Conference Grounds, Reading, Berks, and dated July 22.

Dear John: I haven't been involved in anything really exciting to date, but I thought perhaps you and your readers might be interested in a routine report of what I have been doing. Also I am a little afraid that perhaps my parents might like to have a bit of information on me.

To back track a little bit, perhaps I should begin with the time of sailing at Quebec, which was July 9, an insufferably hot day, the like of which I have not had opportunity to experience since. We sailed at one minute past midnight, and naturally no one turned in until we were out of sight of Quebec, so I didn't get much sleep that night, and I haven't had an opportunity to catch up since.

If anyone thinks they will take a rest by going on an ocean voyage they will have to be a hermit to accomplish it as there is something doing almost twenty four hours daily. Add to that the fact that we had to move our watches ahead fifty minutes every night and you get a strenuous time. The crossing was very quiet and I didn't come in contact with any sickness, although I did hear that there were a few cases.

The weather was quite cool once we got out of the gulf, so fairly heavy clothes were the order of the day. I did muster the courage to go swimming once, and it was quite exhilarating. Of course the fact that the pool was up in first class where we weren't supposed to trespass, added zest. Some of us also managed to crash the dance on first class a time or two without being thrown out, but when one of our lowly group went to the first class bar one time he found that service had suddenly been suspended.

Perhaps I should also report a little on the other side of ship-board life. There were about 40 Quakers on board, all bound for one or more of the Quaker conferences or celebrations that are taking place in Britain and Europe this summer. There were about fifteen of us headed for this Young Friends gathering, and we held a meeting every morning after breakfast in order to prepare ourselves for the meetings to come.

Our intention to have a Quaker meeting on Sunday was printed in the ship's bulletin, with the result that we had between 90 and 100 at meeting. We also participated in the Protestant service on Sunday morning, which had an attendance of about 250. The priest held mass every morning, so we were really quite well taken care of from a religious viewpoint.

We landed at Southampton last Tuesday night and life has run at quite a dizzy pace ever since. We took the boat train to London right from the ship's side, and got into the great metropolis around ten p.m. You can imagine how easy it would be to get a room at that time of night. However, one of our number had phoned various places and finally landed us a bunking place of sorts at Youth Hostel called "The Hermitage" (quite appropriately).

We had to take the underground, transfer to the bus, and finally walk nearly half a mile, all loaded down with luggage until we could hardly move. Certainly Londoners were made aware that a new party of "Americans" had hit the town, for exhibitors and caterers. This will make for shorter streets and a more compact layout. At the same time the association is attempting to obtain a layout which will be advantageous to all concerned. As a result, they have set the deadline of September 6th for receiving applications for space. All who are planning to have an exhibit or to cater at the match should make their applications for space before that date to F. A. Lashley, secretary-manager, Ontario Plowmen's Association, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Plow Matches Promise To Be Bigger 'n Ever

Several new classes, a revised layout for the "Tented City" and an excellent site, all combine to give promise of an even bigger and better International plowing match and farm machinery demonstration in 1952, so states F. A. Lashley, the secretary-manager of the Ontario Plowmen's Association who sponsor this event.

With headquarters located on the Carp airport, a few miles from Ottawa, interest is already running high and the local committee is working hard at the job of getting everything ready for the many guests who will visit the "International" in the week of Oct. 7.

Of the new classes which have been added to the prize list this year, the "Mayor's Class", is receiving most public attention. Started by a challenge from Mayor Charlotte Whitton to the mayors of Ontario, this has developed to a full-fledged event which will be held on the afternoon of October 8, immediately following the official opening. Already the challenge has been taken up by Mayor Lampert of Toronto, Mayor Smith of Woodstock and Mayor MacKenzie of Beaverton. The latter two officials are both ladies but undoubtedly some more of the Ontario men holding this office will come forward to challenge the supremacy of the ladies at the art of plowing. The winner will receive a Challenge Cup which is being presented by J. D. Thomas, honorary president of the Ontario Conservation Association.

Two new classes for visitors, one for horse and the other for tractor plowing, have been added to this year's list. These classes will be open only to plowmen from outside Ontario and it is expected there will be a number of American plowmen on hand to participate, in addition to competitors from other provinces.

Another change in the prize list is to be found in the junior section. A tractor class, open to teams of two students from secondary schools throughout Ontario, will replace what has been known as the inter-county horse plowing class for juniors.

Local counties day will also have some new points worthy of note. In addition to having the local counties events for all counties east of and including Frontenac and Renfrew, the Western Quebec Plowmen's Association are co-operating by sponsoring several classes for competitors from the counties of Papineau, Pontiac and Gatineau. They are also contributing towards the expenses of all of their members who participate in the match.

In addition to the new classes, the "Tented City" will have a "new look" this year. Instead of two streets as has been the case in the past there will be three streets with six rows of tents

Our readers write

Letters to the editor are always welcome but the names of the writers must be known to the editor.

The Editor: I was keenly interested in that editorial from the Printed Word entitled "People Are Consumers" and especially in this forthright paragraph: "Recently a printers' union asked the Ottawa government not to let any immigrant printers into Canada unless the union said so. If the members of the printers' union were native Indians or Eskimos there might be more logic in this idea. But most Canadians are either immigrants or descendants of immigrants. Who are Canadians to argue against letting in more of their own kind?"

I think it was only two or three months back that the representatives of the textile industry in Canada waited upon the immigration ministry at Ottawa and pointed out that conditions in their industry were none too bright, and asked that the inflow of textile workers among immigrants be slowed down. If I remember aright, they got the assurance they wanted.

At the time, I felt that this was neither a desirable nor constructive approach to the perennial problem of immigration. The above "printers' union" story, on a "me, too" basis, simply accents my conviction in this matter, Mr. Editor. Certainly it very much reminded this reader of the assurance of one of the greatest Americans, Franklin Roosevelt, in an address on this same theme: "We are all immigrants!"

Only last week, for instance, I read this assertion by one of the U.S. commentators: "With a wealth of virtually every vital resource, Canada lacks the most important one, people!"

Nevertheless, the fact that, according to a recent official announcement from Ottawa "Canada's population increased an estimated 421,000 in the year ended June 1, bringing the total to 14,430,000", is good news to all Canadians - but especially to our farmers, who realize the fact that, as intimated in your editorial, "People Are Consumers", and who welcome these extra 421,000 new customers for food and fibre.

what with our trying to figure out what our pounds and shillings amounted to, and whether we had been short-changed, etc.

Wednesday morning we were on a conducted tour of part of downtown London, seeing many of our historical old buildings, and going through Westminster Abbey in great detail. Among other things I saw the coronation chair with the stone of Scone restored to its place. (Incidentally, our guide pronounced it "scone" and not "scone" as I had been led to believe by Toronto papers).

Thursday I spent at the Sussex County Agricultural Show which was held on the estate of Lord Cadwrenew near Midhurst. It was quite an interesting event, very different from our own fairs, and in some ways very refreshing.

Chief superiority in my estimation was the fact that there was absolutely no midway or side-show with their noisy barkers to pollute the air-waves. Greatest disappointment was the absolute absence of cattle and swine on account of the prevalence of foot and mouth disease. However there were some excellent horses and the jumping classes were really superb.

Friday I came up here, and this has been my headquarters since then. It is really a Salvation Army property, and is an excellent spot for such an event as this conference. There is a large old brick residence where we eat, and some people also sleep there. Most of us sleep in the conference block, which is really a glorified barracks, but quite nice. There are about 120 of us, and we represent just about every part of the world where Quakerdom exists. I am the only Canadian, and the Americans try to claim me as one of them, but so far I have managed to maintain my national identity.

This letter is becoming too long, so I will leave telling what arises out of this gathering for another time.

I might just comment that so far I have not run into any typical English weather. I had my rain coat out once, but didn't really need it. The sun has shone a little bit every day, and today is quite warm but not oppressive.

No Open Deer Season in York This Fall

There will be no open season for deer in York County this year. There had been some talk of it but the general objection to it from township councils seems to have been heeded by the provincial government.

There had been reports that deer were becoming so plentiful in the county that they constituted a menace to crops. The attitude of the township councils was that the farmers would rather have a deer nuisance than to risk damage and wild shooting by the hunters.

Call out the Reserves with a touch of your toe!

Most cars lead a double life. A good part of the time they're running errands, taking children to school, taking women to stores, taking men to work, taking family and friends to clubs and social functions.

It doesn't call for a very great output of horsepower for duties like these.

But there are times when you want a car that can do vastly more, and these are the times when you'll want what this year's ROADMASTER has to offer.

Beneath its proud hood, there's a Fireball 8 Engine—a valve-in-head that can let loose 170 lively horsepower when needed.

And—alongside this engine—there's also an Airpower carburetor which thrifly feeds fuel and air through two smaller-than-usual barrels for normal driving—which means that you now use less gas at 40 than you'd formerly use at 30.

But there are two barrels in reserve—waiting for you to call them into action—and they let loose a soaring rush of power that sinks your shoulders back into the seat cushion, swoops you past a truck—out of a tight spot—up a hill—sets your speedometer needle to registering added miles more than twice as fast as your watch can tick off the seconds.

This is an experience you certainly should know firsthand.

Pages from the Editor's Notebook

A large number of Canadians followed the radio broadcasts of the Republican and Democratic conventions, sitting up to all hours to hear old-guard and new guard, north and south, fight out party issues, or to listen to the roll call of the states on the nomination. This, we think, was the most suspenseful part of the conventions.

Then last week, while Governor Burns was speaking, a newspaper caught fire behind him. That was a tense moment or so it seemed to this radio listener. We had the impression that all that was needed to set off a panic in the tense and crowded auditorium was a hysterical shout of "fire". We were told by a TV watcher, however, that the convention took the incident in its course.

The presence of the television camera and the roving microphone had a tempering effect upon the delegates. They were very conscious that a nation was watching their deliberations. What they said and what they did was being flashed across the nation; there would be none of the usual opportunity to amend or qualify, to "dress up" for public consumption what was being done.

We think that is an admirable condition although rather difficult for the politicians. But even the politicians were prepared to admit that the disadvantages were more than offset by the advantages of public interest and the new awareness of their responsibilities such an interest imposed upon the participants.

There was a precedent in the television broadcasts of the U. N. debates when Britain's Jebb and the United States' Austin fought it out with the Russian delegates over the Korean intervention. Those broadcasts taught the American people more of what is involved in their international responsibilities than any other medium could have in such a short time.

We can't help speculating upon the effect of broadcasts from the House of Commons. We bet the absentee problem which is heard of so often during the election campaigns would be settled once and for all if a television camera was in use. And what an improvement there would be in the oratory.

One of parliament's biggest worries is getting its business done quickly. We wonder if the politicians, aware of their audience, would accordingly cut short their speeches, or take advantage of the situation to extol the glories of their home ridings to a national audience.

Those planes which flew over on Sunday were from the United States strategic air force and were participating in the air defence exercises which have been going on lately under the joint command of Canadian and United States air forces.

The bombers have been "attacking" Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa and other strategic points while Canadian interceptors have been practising defences against them. Sunday's planes could have been on their way home from an attack against Ottawa. They dived in majestic manner across the sky trailing vapor trails from wings and tail-surfaces. About their course were the arched vapor trails of attacking fighters. The planes were so high that the fighters were only dots. The bombers, because of their huge size, were clearly visible from the ground.

We notice by a despatch on the operation that Canada's cities have been successfully "bombed" by the attackers and that the defence of our cities is not as air-tight as one would like. Such a disclosure ought to encourage more interest in civil air defence activity. Confronted with the fact that an enemy aircraft could bomb our cities, perhaps the authorities will cease to argue over who is going to foot the bill for training civil defences and set about the job of organization.

Might even give those who are so eagerly boosting the size of Toronto something to think about. After all, the bigger a city, the easier it is to hit from the air.

A number of workmen have commenced to pull out the front of the large Danford Roche and Co. department store and a new front of modern design is to be erected. There will be only one entrance, on the south of the store, giving magnificent windows to show goods. When completed we shall have a regular city store in Newmarket.

A birthday party was held at the residence of Mr. David Johnston, Mosley St., Aurora, last week. The party was in honor of Mrs. Rogers who was 91.

THURSDAY, THE THIRTY-FIRST DAY OF JULY, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-TWO

ALLEN JACKSON

There was shock and deep regret in Newmarket when word came late on Friday that Allen Robert Jackson had died in an airplane crash near Trenton. Allen was a brilliant student, an amiable boy, well liked by all who knew him. His early attainments promised years of accomplishment. His death is doubly tragic in that he was unable to enjoy the promises the years ahead held out for him.

We join with all of Newmarket in our sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jackson and to Allen's brother and sister.

BRINGING INDUSTRY HERE

Councillor Charles Boyd issued a statement a few weeks ago, in which he catalogued the effort of his committee to attract new industries to Newmarket. It was quite comprehensive and within the limits of the committee's budget and authority, about all that could be done. We do not think, however, that it will be enough to assure a choice of industry for Newmarket. The plain fact is that other municipalities have more to offer new industries in the way of land and facilities than Newmarket. Until that fundamental lack is corrected, new industry will go elsewhere.

These considerations are pertinent, particularly because of what is developing at Richmond Hill. A private firm has bought 500 acres just north of the village. There it intends to plan a model industrial subdivision with 300 acres set aside for industry and 200 acres for homes. Dr. E. G. Faludi, one of Canada's leading town planners, has been retained to lay out the sub-division. The real estate firm for the development company says that several industries have shown an interest in the project.

Although the area is outside the village, it is understood that Richmond Hill is considering the annexation of 1,000 acres including the development. In this way, civic services are assured for the sub-division and the municipality assured of the tax revenue. The details of erection and servicing of the buildings by the development company have not been settled yet. The development company may build for sale or for rent.

A similar scheme would have immediate application for Newmarket. It could be undertaken by private capital, as is the case in Richmond Hill, or it could be a partnership of municipality and private operator. Failing these choices, Newmarket might simply make provision for such a development against the time that private development capital could be interested.

The circumstances which make Richmond Hill attractive to the investors are its proximity to Toronto, its highway and rail communications, and the expectation of expansion north from Toronto. These same factors apply to Newmarket, only 15 minutes north of Richmond Hill. They would apply in the choice of a Newmarket location by industry in any event, but with land provided for such an industrial sub-division, they would apply with greater force.

We think it self-evident that Newmarket does not now possess the sites to attract a good many of the industries which have been or are on the market for new locations. Under these circumstances, a close investigation into the Richmond Hill development is indicated. Not all the latter's features may be applicable here but the principle of it certainly is.

LET'S GET ON WITH IT

Newmarket needs a sewage disposal plant and Newmarket needs its Main St. renovated and widened, but as the council discussion last week indicated, there is doubt whether the town can afford the two projects at the same time. Councillor Charles VanZant wants priority to go to the sewage disposal plant for the obvious reasons of its need. But York County council, which is pledged to pay $70,000 towards the total cost of the Main St. work, has already laid aside $40,000 of it this year with the remainder promised for next year. If the work is not proceeded with, Newmarket may lose that assistance.

The council discussion ended with a decision to see what could be done about the county grant, whether it could be had next year, or an alternative arrangement made for its payment. It was not the most hopeful decision for either of the two projects. The immediate issue is one of cost, to be sure, but underlying that is the long history of other delays which have led to the present situation. Main St. needs renovation. The sewage disposal plant must be built. Both projects could have been undertaken years ago if earlier councils had faced the facts. But because of delays in the past, it looks as if there will be additional delays in the present and further delays in the future.

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of these activities which rest on individual choice.

It is maintained that the cost of the sewage disposal plant and Main St. work, if embarked upon simultaneously, would give Newmarket a too expensive boost in the tax rate. But it was not mentioned in the discussion that every year of delay in Main St. maintenance increases the ultimate cost of its renovation, and every year of delay contributes towards a higher cost for a sewage disposal plant.

The mayor proposed settling with the county for a $50,000 grant now with no strings on its spending except that it be applied to the maintenance of Main St. This compromise would enable the town to proceed with the sewage plant and at the same time, do considerable work on Main St. It would not, however, avoid the ultimate cost of the job that must be done to give Main St. permanency. We understand that to give Main St. the work it requires will entail tearing up the road-bed and rebuilding it completely. If a $50,000 grant were spent simply on surface work, it would mean that sooner or later, Newmarket would have to pay the whole cost of the proposition, and at a time when it can be assumed that costs will be higher.

Main St. and the sewage disposal plant are two major jobs that Newmarket has avoided, on grounds of costs, for a long time. The council can continue to dodge these two issues on the excuse that the charge against the tax bill is too high. If these were normal times, the excuse might have some force. It has no meaning now with costs rising steadily. The economy of today is simply charging up a heavier cost for tomorrow. Why not accept the fact and get on with both jobs?

TAP THE TOURIST TRADE

Travellers will no longer drive along Yonge St. in ignorance of the existence of Newmarket. Councillor Charles Boyd has the plans for a flood-lit sign of nine by twenty feet to be placed on Yonge St. south of Eagle. The sign will extoll Newmarket's virtues and industrial possibilities.

It's taken a long time to have that sign erected. It was proposed to council over a year ago and nothing was done until this year when the project was handed to Councillor Boyd who carried it through to completion. Now, having gone this far, could we not take the next step of developing tourist attractions in Newmarket itself? The raw material is here.

There is Lions club park, for example, available for use to the traveller as a picnic ground. There is Fairy Lake with its potentialities as a beauty spot. There is the wealth of historical material which, if properly put to use, would attract many travellers.

We suggest that the mayor appoint a commission which would be charged with planning the development of Newmarket's tourist attractions, particularly those with which history has endowed the town. Well over three-quarters of the travellers from the United States have embarked on their journeys to Canada for the purpose of sight-seeing. Newmarket has a historical link with Ohio and Pennsylvania, the two states from which so many of the travellers come. If properly put to use, these historical attractions can encourage a heavy flow of business here.

HOLIDAY TIME

We have been asked many times lately when the Era and Express will take a holiday week. The answer is that in recent years, at any rate, the paper has maintained a policy of continual publication with the staff members taking their holidays in turn. It is not a convenient practice. Even though short only one or two employees in any given week, the resulting extra work for the other employees means-sometimes longer hours and delays in our printing deliveries.

Yet we feel these disadvantages are minor compared to a policy of closing down for a week and depriving our readers of a regular publication. We believe that when a reader subscribes to the paper, he is entitled to the full 52 issues; when an advertiser seeks continuity in his advertising, he is entitled to assurances he will have it.

So, though it means an extra effort for all of the paper employees, we will continue this year, as in other years, to publish our full 52 issues.

Office Cat Reports Catnips By Ginger

Investigations are being carried out in Cuttin Corners by both Queen's Park and federal officials.

Municipal conspiracies to acquire government grants by fraudulent means are accused of Mayor Maynott's administration.

It all started when Mayor Maynott's money saving program put in Handwell S. Shakin as a one-man postmaster, village clerk, chief of police and staff, fire chief, village engineer, sanitary inspector, dog catcher and street cleaner.

Shakin's appointment saved the council money in salaries, and at the same time the administration collected the postmaster's salary and applied for provincial salary grants on police. Maynott applied for grants on a chief and two constables, all three being Handwell Shakin, of course.

The appearance in town of a post office department investigator and a Queen's Park official aroused emotions that we would associate with revolt and secession.

"Me father told me about them Family Compact men. You can't trust 'em," said William Lyon MacKenzie Thimble, 97, a former Thimbleberry township farmer and one of Cuttin Corners' senior citizens. Details on the actual investigation proceedings are scarce so far, writes our correspondent, Slim Bliggins.

"This control by the state is takin' away our autonomous rights; centralized control has gotta go or we secede," Mayor Maynott is reported to have said.

In a closing statement to an enraged council Monday night, Councillor Colin DeHoggs is quoted as saying, "We oughter succeed from the government right now."

Our correspondent comments, "If you can't succeed, suck eggs, as the old saying goes."

Meanwhile Handwell Shakin is becoming frayed at the edges. His duties as the mayor's "municipal unit" hang heavy on his shoulders. Our correspondent reports the following:

by "Dairy Farmer"
The Top Six Inches

The decision to "dump" the pork canned the earlier part of this year on the Canadian market is a very unusual one. One reason for it might be that this canned product would have better sale in the summer time. Another might be that the government expects pork products to be in shorter supply right now and wants to avoid a fluctuation in prices.

The government may figure that later in the fall a shortage might be balanced off by the wiltshire sides now in cold storage. By putting this product on the market, it aims at keeping pork at a steady price, which is orderly marketing and might encourage producers to plan their breeding program in an orderly way. It also looks as if the government may not consider maintaining the floor price after Sept 30 and wants to get this pork off its hand.

There are just as many arguments the other way. When the canning policy was first embarked upon, it was hoped that this canned pork might find its way to the export markets. If the government is reluctant to do this at less than cost price on the international market, where there are agreements against such a procedure, it could have waited a little longer since this product will store indefinitely. Also, this will hurt all other producers of canned pork, who in turn will stop producing it, thus making more pork available to go into cold storage.

In any case, while it is admitted that the canning policy was the only way out last spring, once it was undertaken there seems little reason to dump the product on the market so soon. There are huge undertakings in the planning stage, the seaway, Labrador

Went into Shakin's office yesterday to cash a money order. He's got six phones on his desk with labels on 'em: police phone, dog ketcher's phone, fire department phone, village clerk phone, postmaster's phone and sanitary inspector's phone.

As a phone rings, Shakin picks it up and says, dog ketcher here, or "chief speakin' ". He once got three calls at once, one fer ketcher, another fer chief and a third fer fire chief. The conversation went like this here:

"Hello, chief speakin' but ye'll hafta hang on fer a minute . . . A fire at Mills' barn ye say? . . . No, lady, we don't board dogs fer the weekend . . . Broke in last night, ye say? hold on . . . Hello, I'll bring a net up right away; what ye say? Oh, I'll sound the alarm and the brigade'll be right up . . . Hello, you still there? . . ."

I somehow doubts the efficiency of this here new municipal austerity program of Maynott's. And Shakin's goin' to crack up of nerves if he keeps this pace up.

For instance, Shakin had a fit the day the junior at the bank, like Q. Lowe, snuck in and changed the labels on his phones. Shakin answered the call on what he thought was the police phone.

A woman who was really callin' the sanitary 'spector said, "My husband has fallen into a bad mess and I want to make sure that it's properly covered up from now on."

His back up, Shakin retorted, "See here woman, this here department doesn't cover up no nothin'; nobody's tellin' this here department what to do. Nothin's gettin' covered up in this town. It's gotta be wide open."

Unfortunately, this here woman's husband had fell into a septic tank over on Thimble Street which hadn't a proper cover onto it and she wanted action from the sanitary department. The woman was pretty nonsensical about it.

That there is the kinda thing Shakin there has to put up with. He's dew fer a crack-up any time.

iron, hydro developments. A product like this would lend itself very well to feeding a large gang of men.

Not knowing all the facts, it is hard to guess the real reason behind it all. But it seems to us that support buying means to buy on a low market to remove supplies and resell on the high market to avoid a shortage. Thus one has to reach the conclusion that we are having a short supply right now.

But if this is the case, it might be a good idea to point out, and the Federation should do this, that as producers we would like to have some more information on this; that those of us who have lost money at the floor price and the high feed prices all last winter, and whose pork is in those cans, do not consider that it is possible to keep producing pork at this price.

In other words, while we suffered losses partly due to the foot and mouth disease and partly because of the unusually large hog marketings, we stayed in the business in the hope that once this supply was off the market, our returns would increase to a more reasonable level. It seems to us that our government is reading too many Globe and Mail editorials and is beginning to lean towards the so-called cheap food policy.

Surely it would have been plenty of time to put this canned stuff on the market when pork reached $28 or $30. After all, if the summer trade is the one this is aimed at, then half of this period is gone already. If the government has decided to take its losses, a few cents per pound wouldn't make much difference, and it could have been held for another season.

Oak Ridges News

The sudden death of Robert J. Woolley, Sr., on Monday evening, in front of his Yonge St. home, was widely felt in Oak Ridges and Lake Wilcox. A beloved personality, widely known for his fine character and interest in those around him, he will be missed by the many who called him "friend". He was a charter member of Oak Ridges Lions club, and his death is the first in the organization. The Union Jack flew at half mast at Oak Ridges post office.

Born at Streetsville, he was the son of Joseph Woolley, Beach district, Toronto. Mr. Woolley came with his parents to Toronto at an early age, and had lived in this district for the past ten years. He and his wife, the former Edna Sophia Newman, took the Helmsky farm at Yonge St., where he later built the Wheelhouse and garage. He operated a store and post office at Lake Wilcox for a couple of years, and built a new home on Yonge St., where he has lived since selling the lake business.

Mr. Woolley was connected with Dominion Coal Company for 23 years and was returning from work there when the traffic accident claimed his life on the threshold of his property.

The funeral service was held today (Thursday) from the Thompson funeral home, Aurora conducted by the Rev. W. F. Wixon of Richmond Hill. Interment was made in Aurora cemetery.

Survivors are Mrs. Woolley, two sons, Jack and Robert Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Carl Burns, all of Oak Ridges. Ten grandchildren also mourn his loss.

Mrs. Donald Young, Wildwood Ave., recently entertained her brother, Kenneth Blampied, and his wife of Montreal for their holiday visit. He has returned from a year in Korea as a photographer. Mr. and Mrs. Young came from Montreal to live at the lake this spring, buying the Gilchrist property. Watch For Grain Weevil

Ag. Rep. Warns Farmers

With wheat threshing and combining commencing, farmers are reminded to check on their granaries for grain weevil before putting in their new crop. Agricultural representative W. M. Cockburn of Newmarket points out that each year shortly after the wheat is threshed, several farmers find their bins heating as a result of thousands of these small beetles, about 1-8 of an inch in length.

The important time in control is just before harvest when grain stocks are at a low level. If a small amount of infested grain is left over, move it to another storage if possible. Clean granary thoroughly and apply hydrated lime liberally to all cracks and corners. The bins themselves should be sprayed with DDT or kerosene. Do not apply DDT to the grain itself. If kerosene is used, soak the boards, taking precaution concerning fire. A compressed air knapsack or wheelbarrow sprayer is very suitable for this work.

With DDT, the 5 per cent oil spray, emulsion or 50 per cent wettable spray powder may be used. (1 lb. of the 50 per cent wettable spray powder in 1 gallon of water gives approximately a 5 per cent spray. If the 25 per cent emulsion is used, dilute 1 quart with 4 quarts kerosene).

Infested grain should not be held over unless it is fumigated or removed from the granary where the current crop is to be stored. If two grain storages are in use on a farm, plan to have one empty each year and carry out a complete clean-up on this one as outlined above. Instructions for treating infested grain or granaries can be obtained from the office of your agricultural representative.

IN MEMORIAM

BOUDAH—In loving memory of my dear husband, Walter Boudah, who passed away suddenly one year ago.

I have lost my soul's companion, A life that was linked with my own;

And day by day I miss him more As I walk through life alone. God called him without warning,

And he never said good-bye. So with aching heart and silent tears

I tried to be brave and not cry. Now all I can do, dear husband, Is go and tend your grave.

And leave behind a token of love To the best husband God ever made.

My lips softly whisper "I love you," My heart cannot tell what to say;

God only knows how I miss you, In a home that is lonesome today.

Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by his wife Grace.

COLE—In loving memory of a dear husband, who passed away July 30, 1951.

I lost a husband with a heart of gold, Who was more to me than wealth untold.

Without farewell, he fell asleep, With only memories for me to keep.

I have lost, but God has gained, One of the best the world contained;

His faint last wish we should like to have heard, And breathed in his ear one last parting word.

Only those who have lost are able to tell, The pain of the heart of not saying farewell;

We mourn him in silence, no eyes see us weep, But many a silent tear is shed while others sleep.

Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by wife and sons, Elmer and Hubert.

SUTTON—In loving memory of a dear son and brother, L-Cpl. Howard Sutton, B70182, Royal Regt. of Canada, who died on active service in Normandy, July 27, 1944.

Sunshine fades and shadows fall, But sweet remembrance outlasts all.

Sadly missed by mother, sisters and brother.

WAPSHOTT—In loving memory of a dear son, George Harvey Wapshott, who passed away August 4, 1949.

In the garden of remembrance, We meet every day, Sadly missed by mother.

Needlecraft News

MAKING GIFTS AT HOME is not a new idea, it was a necessity in some generations, a diversion in others. But no matter what the purpose, what better way is there to show your affection than to present hand-made personalized gifts to your friends? Gift making and giving is with us at all seasons of the year. We have birthdays, graduations, anniversaries, and also the demand from the women of the church who are asking for donations for the church bazaar. Fortunately there are many little items that are easy-to-make and most welcome to receive.

Gifts for All

The homemaker will enjoy something that boosts her morale as she goes about her unending tasks of housekeeping. One quickly-made gift is an apron. These highly necessary pieces of wearing apparel can be made as cheerful and pretty as a flower garden. Make one of unbleached muslin and trim it with rows of bias tape in different colors. Or use pastel percale, and put a row of bright applique across the bottom. Dollies, luncheon sets or edgings for towels and pillow cases are nice gifts, too. For the children, there are ever so many things you can make. Toys, of course, are always popular. You might consider stuffed animals or rag dolls, or make a set of clothes for the favorite doll of a little girl's collection. Clothing, too, can make very attractive and practical gifts. Bibs to protect baby's clothing, embroidered and crocheted-edging will be appreciated by both mother and baby.

Tattooing Gifts

Tattooing is an easy art from which many rich and beautiful things can be made. If you would like to have a leaflet that contains complete, easy directions for tattooing and four dainty patterns to make, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper and ask for TATTOOING IS AN EASY ART, Leaflet No. TC-497. The lovely handkerchief edging in the picture above is called "Waltz Dream" and directions for this edging are also included in the leaflet.

Weddings

At the Free Methodist church, Newmarket, on July 26, Sara Jean Mino, R.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mino, Newmarket, became the bride of Lorne George Bache, Newmarket, son of Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Bache, Marmora.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. H. Bache, father of the groom, assisted by Rev. Lloyd W. Mino, brother of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gown in ivory slipper satin with lily point sleeves and a Peter Pan collar on a scalloped circular yoke and covered buttons down to the pointed waist front. Her gown fell into a small train at the back. A tiara of orange blossoms held her floor length veil and she carried a cascade of Pink Delight roses and white mums.

Mrs. Bruce Sedore, sister of the bride, was matron of honor wearing lemon yellow taffeta with matching hat and gloves and carried yellow gladioli petals and yellow baby mums. The bridesmaid, Miss Elsie Gibbons, wore orchid taffeta with matching hat and gloves and carried orchid gladioli petals and pink carnations. Miss Brenda Sedore, niece of the groom, was flower girl wearing green taffeta trimmed with white ribbon bows and eyelet and matching hat and gloves and carried a floral basket.

The groomsmen were Mr. Rae Ball, Uxbridge, and the ushers were Messrs. Ronald Beckett, Marmora, and Harold Bull, Newmarket.

Miss Margaret Dyer, R.N., of Wyevalle, was soloist and rendered "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden", and "O, Perfect Love". The reception was held at the Beach Trips Specialty

Lake Simcoe softball league opposition made it 2 - 0 against Specialty last week when Willow Beach won 4 - 3 over the Town League leaders. A pair of Beach errors and the first of Bernard Kay's three hits to bring in two Specialty runs forecast a glum evening for the Beachers. But Don Cameron's triple squared the issue at 2 - 2 in the second. John Shedlowick got a homer in the fourth and that was the picture as the teams slid into the fateful seventh.

Dick Sinclair, Beach first sacker, led off with a single and Don Cameron went down swinging as John Shedlowick claimed his tenth strike out victim. Then Geo. Powell looped one along the foul line in left. Jerry Hugo Bernard Kay and Wilf Elsyby converged on it, there was a collision. Sinclair and Powell were home free and the Beach 4 - 3 winners.

Willow Beach: A. Chappelle, D. Anderson, D. Trivett, C. McNeill, D. Sinclair, G. Burrows, G. Powell, B. Fairbairn, R. Pringle.

Office Specialty: B. Kay, J. Hugo, B. Cook, T. Mosier, W. Elsyby, J. Shedlowick, J. Hisey, L. VanZant, B. Andrews.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Art Newman, Queensville, announce the engagement of their niece, Mabel (Joan) Crosbee, to Mr. Walter Ward Higgins, Toronto. The marriage will take place on Saturday, Sept. 6, at 8 o'clock, in St. James Anglican church, Sharon.

CARD OF THANKS

Words can not express our appreciation to everyone for the consoling words of sympathy and many acts of kindness extended to us in the loss of a dear wife and mother, also to those who remembered Mrs. Wright with cards, flowers and treats during the three months of illness. The Common Round...

By Isabel Inglis Colville

SO MUCH

When summer comes with lavish hand
To spread her riches o'er the land,
There is so much to see and hear,
Artistic joys for eye and ear;

The oriole in orange coat,
Is like a lily set afloat,
His call, insistent, "hurry, hurry",
Upsets the wrens who scold and worry.

The humming bird, wings opalescent,
Seeks nectar that seems ever present,
In tall delphiniums' azure urns
Round which it flits in dizzying turns.

From high on th' barn, song sparrows thrill
Their audience, with lilt and trill,
While from some secret, bushy hiding
The cuckoo tells of his abiding.

Goldfinches sing in choral groups
While unknown birds descend in troops
To find on tree and bush and ground
The food that nature strews around.

Our robins, three times every day
Light on the lawn to work and play,
To pull out long, protesting worms
Unheeded of their twists and squirms.

Baled hay in oblongs, grace the field;
The raspberries their riches yield.
Great fields are rich with reddish gold,
While corn will soon her ears unfold;

The trees are clothed in lovely greens
And backgrounds form for gorgeous scenes.
But nature has her own small jokes
And gives her lovers some smart pokes.

Tomatoes stand up firm and straight,
Next day you visit them, elate,
And find that pride should not presume
—The cut worm spelled your treasure's doom!

Potato bugs assume that they
Have every right to their heyday,
While cabbage worms in wriggly joy
Your finest heads too soon, destroy.

You spray and fume, and dust and grumble
While all your hopes around you crumble,
Tomato worms chop through your dreams
While morning fog means blight, it seems.

A special horrid little bane
Beholds each juicy raspberry cane,
While lusty borers bore the corn
In each corn-lover's life, a thorn.

Such heat we feel we cannot stand
And yet, heat once was our demand,
But human nature, though insistent,
Was never meant to be consistent,

And nature knows just how to ration
Each season with its compensation,
And really — don't you think it's true
What IS is good for me — for you!

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

The late esteemed Daniel Webster, who won very considerable fame as a gentleman who knew what words really meant, defined sport as a noun meaning... that which diverts and makes mirth; pastime, amusement.

If Mr. Webster was around today, he might alter the definition. He might remove the word "mirth". For there is little more real fun in the major realms of sport. It has become a very serious business, with few laughs. If there is any mirth, then it is strictly coincidental, and unintentional. In fact, the athletes of today aren't even characters as we knew such in other days when there was less money, more laughs. They're cold, calculating and skilful, workmen. It wasn't like this in the not so old days when sport had its sports. The guys (and gals, too) had personality. There are no more roistering characters such as, for instance, the late Harry Greb, Pittsburgh's bouncing boxer who buffeted his way to the world middleweight title. Greb's deviations from what were known as routine training methods won him fame of a sort. Certainly notoriety. Once in New York he rolled out of bed late in the afternoon, went to the hotel barber-shop, requested a shave and a face massage with hot towels. It had been a rough night.

The barber asked courteously: "Who do you think will win the fight tonight Mr. Greb?"

Replied Harry, indifferently: "Who's fighting?"

"Why, you are, Mr. Greb," said the amazed barber. He was right too.

Out west they recall lurid tales of big, rugged Amby Moran, who played major hockey both east and west. Amby was careless about training, too. He played so poorly for Regina one season, that the late Wes Champ advised him he would have to report in shape the next fall or do without a contract. So Moran bought a pair of pants three sizes too big for himself, donned them, reported to Champ. When the manager queried him about a weight, Amby ran his hand around the top to show how much larger they were for him "as a result of his program of getting in shape".

"It cost me $9 for those pants, but I got a contract!" recalled Amby.

Sprague Cleghorn, one of hockey's great all-time defense players, was a paradox, a practical joker off the ice, a hard man on it. One night while he was managing Montreal Maroons, the Governor General of Canada was present in the Montreal Forum as patron and guest of honor at a big Christmas-basket charity boxing event. He was invited to the Maroon dressing-room to meet the players, who were hurriedly summoned. Just as the Governor General and his staff were making a dignified entrance, a horrified Forum official noticed Cleghorn had a "buzzer" attached to his hand. He was instructed, in hasty whispers, to get rid of it. "Surely!" said the official, "you were not going to shake hands with the Governor General wearing that thing?"

"Certainly I was!" said Cleghorn. "The boxing show is over, the Governor looks bored, and deserves some sort of a thrill".

There is no such humor around the major sports wheel today. Big money has chased out the laughs, made it serious business.

Musing On The Possibilities

Month end ends: Billy Clubine of Richmond Hill, who is carded to team with Red Garner in next week's show against Bully Penchoff and Gori Mangotich at Stan Smith's Newmarket arena, may not be on the card. Last week in a six-man team match, villain Alex Jensen applied the cobra hold to Clubine and he was carried from the ring and rushed to Toronto General. Fortunately, it was just a wrenched neck and shoulder but mighty painful.

Poetic justice might be done, if Clubine can't appear, to send Jim Krochter of Aurora in Clubine's place. Krochter, Aurora policeman, is a rookie at the paid end of wrestling but the 235 lb. cop is no novice at the game. Jim doesn't drink or smoke and is always in condition. Paradoxically enough, Krochter, although likely to be teamed in wrestling as he is in ordinary life with "the good guys", will undoubtedly find quite a few fans hoping somebody will beat the bejambners out of him.

Congrats to radio broadcaster and executive Wes McKnight who was recently elected Senior Warden of the Grand Lodge of the Masonic Order (Ontario). Wes hails originally from Tottenham and besides his work is an ardent sportsman. On the subject of radio we caught Ed Stevens, the popular first-sacker of Toronto Leafs, in his debut as a disc jockey on Saturday morning. Stevens did a creditable job, and his program of hill-billy, western and old time platners has a ready audience. You can catch it at 12.05, each Saturday over CKEY. Stevens is one player on the Leafs who gives his all and it's really a treat to see him bash the ball.

Jimmy Strachan, well known Barrie athlete and minor pro goalie, is confined to Gravenhurst San. All Jim's wide circle of friends are pulling for a quick comeback.

Newmarket baseball all-stars of ten years ago were as follows: First Team: Chuck VanZant (c), Lefty Newbold (2b), Bob Peters 1b, Earl Gould 2b, Jack Mitchell (2b) 3b, Harvey Gibney ss, Herb Cain o, Al Wysinski (23) o. Second Team: Tarzan Pirie (23) c, Oliver Gould p, Jack Gorrle (23) 1b, Jack Wright 2b, Ned Tansley 3b, Jack Vaughan (23) ss, Pete Neufeldt o, Mickey Smith o, Babe Marchildon (23) o.

We publish it as there's some talk of an oldtimers vs present day game. The use of (23) indicated players from the camp and except for Babe Marchildon, who still performs for Penetang, we doubt if any of the soldier boys are playing. 1941 was the last year a team bearing the name Newmarket played intermediate ball, the camp being eliminated by Morse A.C. of Toronto. Bruce Andrews was a member of that No. 23 B.T.C. team as was Wes Niles. If and as the game is staged we offer our services, Brother Haskett, as base arbiter if you're interested.

By the way if the Tom Watson cup for baseball, last held by the camp is around, it's a mere 41 years old, being first competed for in Newmarket back in 1911. We can remember along with many others when there was enough talent in canaltown to stage a four-team tournament on fair day without bringing in outside competition. Generally they did have a couple of outsiders in with a couple of Newmarket clubs going. Never like to see those old trophies disappear if only for the historic value.

The Newmarket Town League, if we remember rightly, lasted from 1911 to 1928, then was retired at the time of the depression. (Don't you know what that means, junior?) and came back for competition. Our research hasn't been complete but we think it was around 1926 that Newmarket played baseball out side of the town league. We trust this is the dope you required. Mr. Hashman. Incidentally, if the Watson Cup should rest anywhere, it should be at the Davis Leather Company for the Tanners dominated the Town league for most of the years of competition.

George Stockwell, who trained Newmarket Redmen in the days of the late Bill Hancock, and then went to Upper Canada, the Army and Argonauts, is working overtime these days as Frank Clair puts the double blue through their pre-season jumps. Stockwell is one of the best in the business, and next to an M.O. in efficiency.

It's interesting to recall too that Bill Smith, who coached Aurora Army to the O.H.A. intermediate championship, is headman on the training end for Toronto Maple Leafs and doing a grand job. Smitty is a pupil of the great Tommy Daly.

Baseball fans of yesteryear will remember Duke Hennessy, catcher for the famous Hillierests team of Toronto, as well as St. Marys and others. Duke was catcher for the famous Ed. "Can-nonball" Scott, and Lionel Conacher was a teammate. Mr. Hennessy died on Sunday in Toronto. He played more than one game in Newmarket Fair Grounds and was well known in Aurora, being an uncle of Roy Gifford. Howie Gifford, and Bud Gifford when that family was so prominent in Aurora sports in the 20's. Jack Hennessy, who spent many summers at Wilcox Lake and played softball with Aurora one year, is a brother of the deceased.

Rex Bailey, who played with Aurora Bears in '51 and also for the defunct Aurora Indians, is going great guns for Oakville Juniors who are grouped in the Toronto Junior baseball circuit. Bailey has caught the eye of one or two pro scouts. Huzza and a round of applause for Norman Lane, former master at St. Andrew's College, who scored a fifth in the canoe singles at the Olympic games and has Canada's canoe team doing great things, considering how all our other athletes are performing.

The Queensville branch met on Wednesday, July 23, at the home of Mrs. Stan Eves. The president, Mrs. Fred Weddel, was in the chair. After singing the Ode, the Mary Stewart Collect was repeated. The roll call, "What I Like Most About This Month", was answered by 13 members. Eleven visitors were also present. The motto - "You have to do your own growing, no matter how tall your grandmother was", was explained by various members.

Tickets on the Institute quilt will be sold at the rink on Sports Day. The quilt will be on display there. Everyone's help is solicited for serving the cafeteria supper at the rink on Sports Day.

The members decided to accept the rider offered by the Blue Cross. The date for paying Blue Cross fees is August 12 and 13. Please pay promptly to Mrs. A. J. Milne or Mrs. Wm. Dew.

A bus trip is being planned to the Exhibition on Music Day. Committee in charge, Mrs. T. Miller, Mrs. Lew Irwin, Mrs. A. J. Milne, and Mrs. R. Watts.

The program was in the charge of the Four H Club and was ably conducted by Miss Marian Eves, the leader. Each girl did her work well and was much appreciated.

Pat McFarquhar gave two comic recitations. Margaret McGill rendered a violin solo. Barbara Reid read a poem and sang a solo. Marilyn McGill recited and also gave a piano solo.

Doris Goode gave a reading. Hilda Andrews gave a reading and current events for the month. Marian Eves explained the work the club girls had done during the year. The girls wore the dresses which they made and their record books were displayed.

A Town Manager Appointment Not Necessary For Aurora Banner Error "Taken Care Of"

In the absence of the Mayor, Dr. Crawford Rose, who with Mrs. Rose is on a vacation, Reeve A. A. Cook carried out the duties of chairman at the last meeting of council. If we may say so, the Reeve performed those duties most successfully. There was no contentious question before the meeting and not much argument.

As most people know who read the local news, Reeve Cook and this writer have not always seen eye to eye. From the Reeve we received a tremendous lambasting at the last nomination meeting. No only ourselves but our old friend and adviser, Dr. Augustus Malcolm, mayor of Squirrel-town, was put on the anvil of the Reeve's denunciation when he made the sparks fly with such fury last winter.

So effective was the Reeve's blast that the Mayor of Squirrel-town and his councilors immediately dissolved themselves into a committee of the whole, in which situation they have been engaged ever since. This will answer enquiries we have received on the whereabouts of the Malcolm council. When that council emerges from its committee retreat we shall hope to have a report for our Malcolm fans.

Meanwhile we have to say that we bear not the slightest feelings of umbrage or animosity against Reeve Cook. We are not made that way. He made a good showing as chairman at the last meeting of council and it gives us pleasure to put that fact on the record.

Knowledge Of Procedure

Reeve Cook has, of course, a sound knowledge of procedure. He has gained this from long experience on council and as a member of the county council. He brought this experience to bear on the proceedings at the last meeting of council. As became a chairman, he had little to say himself, except for guiding the business through its several stages.

He pointed out procedure in the case of the deputy-reeve who engaged in several somewhat impromptu interventions. The Reeve said that procedure called for a report from the Streets committee of which Mr. Murray is chairman. This request was supported by several members of council who had heard Mr. Murray repeat himself several times.

One useful suggestion from the Reeve was that the debentures for the $35,000 reservoir borrowing should be for a 20 rather than a 15 year period. Councillor Jones was of the same opinion and the 20 year period was ultimately adopted.

Deputy-reeve Murray

We can't understand what has overtaken Deputy-reeve Murray. He has been constantly repeating himself at recent sessions of council. So much so that one can almost anticipate one sentence following another. He has an obsession for such phrases as "problem too big for his committee and for council." "Engineering survey needed," followed by "doing our best but not enough money for the job," etc. When the deputy is feeling unusually pessimistic he is prone to yank out the old saying: "Bad publicity for the town."

Mr. Murray appears to be victimized by a process of self-created mental riddles. He is constantly on his feet, talking. But he rarely clarifies himself. When his finished his listeners are left groping for a meaning to what they have heard. One of his pet theories is for the appointment of a town manager. He admits that his committee has "fallen down badly."

Some time ago we expressed an opinion that the deputy-reeve talks far too much. But even that fault could be remedied if he gave any evidence that he was sure on what he was talking about. But his dissertations are so much in the nature of verbal ramblings that he loses the attention of his listeners. Councillor Corbett often puts his hand on his forehead as though to comfort his beating temples!

Protests!

The repetition appeared to have gotten on Dale King's nerves as he sharply commented that the talk had gone on for several months and seemed likely to continue that way. "Make some concrete proposals," Mr. King told the deputy-reeve.

Councillors Jones and Murray made similar requests. "What we want is a report to study in council and we'll decide if we like it or don't like it," declared the Aurora Churchill. Councillor Murray ("disturber") and "insolence" Murray, that is) said he was "tired of so much talk and no action."

The deputy-reeve was, in fact, a very troubled man. He gives one the impression that he has taken on a job that is too big for him as chairman of the Streets committee. It could well be that he has not the time to give to the work, thus his appeal for "outside help." There is no question that the problem of roads and sidewalks in Aurora demands a great amount of time.

The deputy-reeve seems to favor the appointment of a town manager. Such an appointment would cost the ratepayers a lot of money. We have looked into the matter and in all of Canada there are only 35 town managers, mostly employed by the large municipalities.

Opinions expressed are that Aurora does not need a town manager. What is needed is direction for the present staff. It appears that such direction is not given, except for odd jobs here and there. Reeve Cook has often called for conferences with town foreman and the Streets committee. Such conferences do not appear to have taken place. If the Reeve's suggestion were acted on many useful results might come out of it.

The Banner Boner

Human nature and management not being infallible, it is inevitable that mistakes will be made. But there are mistakes and mistakes! Councillor Murray drew council's attention to one of these when he pointed out as a council representative that he did not sign the arena board "Statement" which was published in the July 17 issue of the Banner.

On its front page of that issue the Banner said that the "Statement" was "signed by all members of the arena board." Councillor Murray refuted this by pointing out that he had not been advised of the meeting and that he did not sign the "Statement."

While the reporting reputation of the Banner, under its present management, is often in question it seems strange that so serious a misrepresentation could have occurred as the one Councillor Murray complained of. As a council representative on the arena board it was his plain duty to draw the attention of the chairman of council and members to the reporting misrepresentation.

"Already Taken Care Of."

Reporter Picking informed Reeve Cook that the matter "had already been taken care of." The way it had been "taken care of" became apparent in last week's issue of the Banner; and a manner way of making a retraction we have yet to see!

Instead of doing the decent thing by stating simply that Councillor Murray did not sign the "Statement," and perhaps expressing regret for the misrepresentation, the Banner played cat and mouse to such an extent that at the end of the half column it was hard for any reader to determine just what was what.

During the whole period we have been reporting Aurora town council business only once has the accuracy of our reports been questioned. This was towards the end of the 1951 council when Mrs. Fielding called us on the 'phone to tell us we had misquoted her on the question of a Kennedy street sewage delegation.

We asked Mrs. Fielding to dictate her own words and we would then publish them as directed. Not satisfied with our assurances, however, Mrs. Fielding made an issue of the matter at that night's council meeting and, of course, the Banner made much capital of it. The interesting part of the story is that one member of the delegation rang us up to say that our first report was the correct one!

We printed Mrs. Fielding's telephoned directions precisely as she gave them to us. It is always most important that the substance of what a speaker says should be accurately reported even if the words are not precisely verbatim, a feat which cannot always be accomplished.

Councillor Murray did not sign the arena board's latest "Statement" and the Banner could easily have noted that plain fact. Instead it made a sort of news-reel out of the incident in which the main fact was forgotten by the time the reader reached its end. It certainly was "taken care of."

A Smooth Meeting

All in all, the session under the chairmanship of Reeve Cook was a very good one, there being no contentious business. The Reeve is a kindly and accommodating chairman.

Councillor King is speaking more clearly and he made some good points, as did Councillor Davis. Councillor Ralph Tucker's presence was missed. If we don't always agree with him, we must add that he is no dumb member and he brings his point of view to council with force and clarity.

Mrs. Diamond, acting for the first time in the capacity of town clerk, read the correspondence in clear tones and the council's compliment to her was well earned.

IT NEEDN'T HAVE HAPPENED

The disputes and the publicity over the arena need never have happened. All the facts go to show that the old building is in very bad shape and the cracking walls and floors in the new building prove that it is not satisfactory. These are visible facts for anyone to see. For those who have not inspected the arena there are the reports of the arena manager, Mayor Rose and Councillors Corbett and Murray, and our own investigations detailed in our article in Aurora News Page of May 29.

All that was needed on the part of Mr. Underhill and his board was an acknowledgment of the indisputable facts followed by action to repair them. Instead of taking such an obviously sensible course the board bald-headedly set out to dispute the facts and condemn those who were doing their best in the interests of the ratepayers who own the arena.

Closed meetings were held at which the press was not present, and other closed meetings were held with reports being released to the Banner but withheld from Aurora News Page. Our newspaper is widely read in Aurora, as its sales prove. The very fact that some members of the board discriminate in such a way against a large number of the citizens of Aurora is in itself an act of self-condemnation.

If the signatories to the "statements" issued from the closed board meetings had taken the alternative course of frankly facing the facts concerned with the "deplorable" condition of the arena, instead of spending so much time at face-saving employments, a different situation would have existed. They could have avoided all the "bad publicity" they complain of.

There should be an end to all closed meetings. There should be a complete detailed statement issued on the $80,000 spent on the arena, so that the ratepayers would clearly understand where the money has gone.

"TO YOU, MR. EDITOR"

In its "Statement," published exclusively in the Banner, the six signing members of the arena board expressed their "appreciation of the Banner's attitude towards arena affairs." Exactly! That's what could be expected. Those signing the "Statement" were chairman, F. R. Underhill; W. H. Stoddart, secretary; Ralph Tucker, treasurer; A. M. Cousins, E. J. Henderson and John Offord.

The Banner has indicated no intention of exploring the facts in the interests of the citizens. To the best of its ability it has clamped down on those who have tried to make the facts known to the people. It has defended those who have maintained that facts are not facts; that the old building is not in bad shape, when in fact it is; and that the new building is "satisfactory" when anybody who isn't blind can see its cracked walls and chipping floors.

In last week's issue of the Banner, in an editorial entitled "Now Let's Get On With The Job," the smaller periodical strikes an olympian gesture. It declares that "the storm in a teacup should now be considered as ended." To you, Mr. Editor, we say, not so fast! Speaking for the majority of Aurora citizens, and not for a few special interests and cliques, we have to say that the matter is not ended.

NEWSPAPER CARTELS

There is no apparent immediate likelihood of newspaper cartels emerging in Canada such as those that exist in Britain. Half a dozen cartels in Britain, largely personal in character, own almost all the daily and weekly newspapers and a vast number of technical journals and magazines. The leading newspaper owners in Britain are: Lords Beaverbrook, Rothermere, the three brothers, Lords Iliffe, Camrose and Kemsley, and the Odhams Press which controls the labor Daily Herald.

There was a time in Britain when the majority of the daily newspapers were the proud possession of individual owners in large numbers. This multiplicity of ownership was responsible for a great variety of opinion. Consequent on the gradual elimination of a large number of newspaper owners this variety of opinion was considerably modified.

We remember an occasion when the distinguished author and publicist, Mr. Hilaire Belloc, complained that one of the cartel newspapers would not publish even a "letter to the editor" written by him. Incidentally, selections from the works of Mr. Belloc are included in school text-books in Ontario.

The nearest approach we have in Canada to a newspaper cartel is the ownership, it is understood, of nearly two dozen newspapers by Mr. Roy H. Thomson. It is claimed that while he has continued to buy more and more newspapers he has refrained from making changes in their former policies or editorships. Presumably, therefore, Mr. Thomson is interested in newspapers as a business proposition rather than for the exercise of personal or political power.

Benevolent or otherwise, newspaper cartels are opposed to the best interests of the national life. It is out of a variety of opinions and the clash of ideas that progress comes. Where there are no differences of opinion there is only stalemate. There is no more deadly stalemate than a newspaper proscription which permits the people to know only what a newspaper proprietor thinks they ought to know! That, briefly, is the real meaning of newspaper cartels.

Historic Kettleby Landmark 100 Year-Old Family Reunion: Aurora Church Attendances

For some time past we have hoped to find space for a brief glance back at the historic story of Kettleby, which was once a considerable and prosperous community. But there have been so many immediate local and topical matters to take care of that the opportunity to write of Kettleby has not come our way.

The subject and its importance was impressed on us by a brochure loaned to us by a well-known Kettlebyonian. The author of the brochure was the late J. M. Walton, a prolific historian besides being a very successful businessman, mayor of Aurora for some years, and a versatile authority on a great number of subjects.

If any of our readers are fortunate enough to possess a copy of the late Mr. Walton's brochure entitled "The Story of Kettleby," they may count themselves fortunate, for besides its wealth of local history it contains numerous very fine cuts. One of these is on the front page of the brochure and shows a view of Kettleby from the west hill. There is also an excellent picture of the old grist mill, built in 1840, and which came to such a calamitous end a couple of years or so ago.

More than 100 years ago Kettleby could boast of a long list of tradesmen, hotel keepers, blacksmiths, shoemakers, tailors, coopers, potash boilers, painters, piano salesmen, harness makers, carriage makers, whiskey distillers, masons, carpenters, well diggers, a large number of school teachers, four medical practitioners, dress-makers, weavers, etc.

There is a great story associated with the rise and fall of Kettleby. Many historical landmarks still remain of Kettleby's great days, and one of them we turn to now.

The Hambleton Family

One of Kettleby's most historical features is Clifton Farm, in the occupancy of the Hambleton family. It is just one hundred years ago since Mr. and Mrs. Hambleton purchased Clifton Farm on what was then known as the Lloydtown road, and established themselves there. They had six sons and four daughters and besides this large family two of their nieces joined them. It is interesting to note that the name, "Clifton Farm," was chosen by the youngest daughter of the Hambletons and the name has survived unchanged through the years.

During the one hundred years the farm has been in three ownerships only. On the death of Mrs. Hambleton, widow of the original owner, her youngest son, Alfred, took over. Since his death the property has been held by his daughter Ruth Hambleton Maginn.

Centenary Celebration

On Sunday, July 13, the descendants of the late Clarkson and Martha Lount Watson Hambleton gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Maginn, Clifton Farm.

Letters of regret for unavoidable absence from the centenary celebration were received from grandchildren in Western Canada and from a great-niece resident at Galt. Flowers were received from relatives in Saskatchewan, and these were placed in the United church, Kettleby, in memory of deceased members of the family.

The genealogical record of the family, dating from 1751, was signed by each member of the family who attended the celebration. Signatories were from Toronto, Barrie, St. Mary's, Leamington, London and Regina, Sask.

Church Attendances

We often report here opinions which we ourselves do not necessarily hold, though we have sometimes been personally blamed for publishing other people's viewpoints as though they were our own. These columns are part news and part opinions. When they are our own opinions we never leave readers in doubt on the matter.

What we are writing now are the opinions of an old-time Aurorian who called at the office to tell us that he had gone to the Royal theatre to see the motion picture, "The Guest," which had been recommended by the manager, Mr. Clifford Griffiths, as in the list of "something different."

Our visitor said he was glad to have seen it, which he would not have had the pleasure of seeing but for the paragraphs he had read in these columns. It was a story by a Russian writer long dead, namely Count Leo Tolstoy, and the theme was a religious one.

When our caller had finished speaking about the movie, his thoughts turned to church attendances in Aurora, which he said had changed very much in the past 25 years. Then, he said, the churches were thronged for the evening services, while today preference is for the morning worship and very small numbers turning up at night.

Nor did he think religion had the hold on the people of today as it had when he was a boy. "There has been a serious decline in religious faith," he maintained. He did not think there was the same friendliness among the people of today who attended church. And then, quite suddenly, he spoke of what he described as "the least friendly church in Aurora." And here we draw the curtain: Thereafter it was a "closed meeting."

Too Much Water!

At the last meeting of the town council there was a long and rather rambling discussion on sanitary and storm sewers and overflowing eavestroughs. There had been many complaints after the heavy downpours.

It is obvious that such complaints in such circumstances were rather unreasonable. Consider the abnormal volume of water that fell on Aurora a couple of weeks ago and ask yourself the question if it were reasonably possible for sewers and eavestroughs successfully to cope with it? After all, facilities that can cope with average demands are not installed to meet the impacts of a deluge!

From all we have heard Aurora came out well under the tropical downpour. Councillors cannot be held responsible for what flows down from the heavens in unprecedented quantities.

Dog Control

Since the arrangements made by the town council with the North York Humane society we have appreciated a great improvement in the matter of dogs on the loose. We can, of course, speak only for our own district, and there are certainly fewer dogs wandering around.

We have received, however, complaints from two residents in opposite town locations, and they say there are still plenty of wandering dogs. They are asking what the town is paying for? They declare there is no evidence of improvement.

We understand that the Humane society is sending their dogcatcher into Aurora twice weekly, in the mornings and evenings. It is always unpleasant to lay complaints, but such can be made at the town hall on Friday evenings from 8 to 9 p.m.

Any Stick Will Do

The "home-town paper" has gone out of town, as far as it is from Stouffville, to find a "stick" to beat up the Mayor of Aurora. In its last week's issue an editorial from the Stouffville Tribune was reprinted in which some sound arguments were put forward in support of publication of all civic expenditures. With the Tribune's arguments we are in agreement 100 per cent.

What we are not in agreement with is the Banner's renewed attempt to prejudice Dr. Rose's position in regard to making public the contract price of Aurora's new reservoir, which was duly published. The estimated cost, based on the engineer's calculations, of from $30,000 to $35,000, was published several weeks ago. There was no secret. (Page 12, Col. 6)

COUNCILLOR MURRAY WRITES

A Letter To The Electors And Taxpayers Of Aurora

Queen's Hotel
 Aurora
 July 29, 1952
 The Editor, Aurora News Page

Dear Sir:
 Through the medium of your newspaper I would like to put the following matters before the electors and taxpayers of the town of Aurora.

Mr. Underhill and his arena board have published in the Aurora Banner what they think of me, and they have a very poor opinion of your choice of whom you elect to council. Are they right and you the electors wrong?

After all, I am only doing what you, the electors, placed me in office to do, namely, to look after your interests and properties, and you, ladies and gentlemen, are the sole owners of the arena, not Mr. Underhill and his board.

Mr. Underhill and his board remind me of an Eaton Beauty Doll that sits on a high pedestal in a glass case, and we can only sit back and remark how pretty and cute it is, but must never use, touch, or in any way disturb it. "Hands Off."

The opinions of the Aurora Banner must be taken with a pinch of salt on this question, because its editor has been in Aurora for only a very short time and during which I don't suppose he has been in the arena half a dozen times.

And please remember this, that anything I have said about your arena and its board, as your elected member of that board, has so far never been disproved.

There are quite a number of questions regarding the arena that have not so far been satisfactorily answered. And you the taxpayers and owners of the arena have the right to ask the members of the board themselves, on the street or over the phone, some or all of the following questions.

1 Mr. Underhill, why did you hold an arena board meeting on June 12 in the full knowledge that Councillor Murray could not attend, because of a very important meeting of the Water committee that was being held on that same night and hour.

2 Mr. Underhill, why were notices not sent out for the so-called regular meeting of July, instead of members being phoned back and forth, to make sure they would all be present, but not one single call made to Councillor Murray? (And don't let Mr. Underhill try to tell you he tried to phone me because I have two telephones and each one is always answered in a matter of seconds, 24 hours a day, 365 days of the year).

3 When will the roof of the new part be fixed, that has leaked ever since it was built? When is the safety-guard going to be put on the big drive-wheel of the compressor? When is the unsatisfactory drain for snow-pit to receive attention?

It is a proven fact that hockey is the main paying factor at the arena, so when is the board going to give some actual leadership and guidance to our junior hockey ey teams?

Ask Mr. Cousins if the contractor who built the new part of the arena had ever previously done any building work in Aurora.

Ask Mr. Tucker how "mad" he was, and how much he had to say last February and March when he had to spend so much time on the arena books because there were no entries made from July, 1951, to February, 1952.

Ask Dr. Henderson how he knows so much about the arena affairs, when during the years he has been on the board he has hardly attended any meetings, and why. (And don't let him tell you he was too busy).

Ask the board why Councillors Davies and Gundy at last year's council asked for a delay in the final payments to contractor Hipel. Ask the board if it was the same set of plans that Mr. Hipel used to build the new front as were presented to Aurora Building Co. when asked for their tender? Ask Mr. Cousins why he was still talking about prices for the new seats at the west end when he knew they were already ordered. Ask the deputy-reeve if he is proud of the job he did of laying the cement floors in the dressing rooms. Ask for what purpose the sum of $493.26 was paid to Margeson and Babcock. Ask Mr. Underhill if any of the insurance on the arena is held by the companies he represents.

The arena board is responsible to council. Ask Mr. Underhill, as the board's chairman, how often he has been to council, outside of his one appearance to ask for more money. And why he did not come to council this year when requested to do so?

Ask the board for whom they wrote their recent statement, the people or the Banner. Ask the board why six members of council signed the joint statement of council and the arena board, but no members of the arena board signed it except Mr. Tucker, and he signed it as a councillor and not as a member of the board.

Ask the board why they did not submit the plans of the new part to the department of agriculture for advice so as to qualify for a $5,000 grant. Ask the board what they intend to do with the Perryment report.

Ask Mr. Underhill if he would feel so sure of himself if he had to face the electors as I do. And if he does, then let him do so, as I will have to.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, let no one say that I doubt the members of the arena board as private individuals, because each in his own way and business has proven himself and his ability. But as a group in charge of the affairs of your arena they are most certainly subject to criticism.

Signed D. J. Murray,
 Town Councillor and Arena Board Member.

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING
 cy whatever in regard to the price.

What Mayor Rose suggested was the omission of the prices of tenders that were found unacceptable and we can see no fault in that. When a contractor has failed to get his tender accepted it is hardly fair to him to publicise the fact. Such publicity could be prejudicial to his future interests. When a tender has been accepted, as in the case of the Aurora Building Co. and the new reservoir, then the cost should be made public. The cost of the new reservoir will be $29,758, plus $420 tax. These figures were published in Aurora News Page issue of July 10.

We wonder why the Banner appears to be so bent on "beating up" the mayor? Is it true that a backwoods' candidate is lurking around somewhere in the shadows?

'The Greatest Show on Earth'

Cecil B. DeMille's "The Greatest Show on Earth," which is coming to the Royal theatre on August 4, has probably had more praise than any other picture ever produced. Here is what Lee Mortimer, of the Daily Mirror, wrote of it: "DeMille's circus movie is his greatest show. I love Cecil B. DeMille. He sells nothing but entertainment, pleasure and escape. 'The Greatest Show on Earth' will shatter every record in the history of the screen and will probably hang up grosses that will never again be equalled."

"It is a picture that has everything and only DeMille knows how to use everything. It has uproarious comedy, high tragedy, gripping suspense and sustained excitement that will curdle your spinal fluid."

Jane Corby, of the Brooklyn Eagle, wrote: "If you love the circus, this is it. You couldn't be closer to it unless you joined the circus yourself. By all means take the children; borrow the neighbors, if necessary. It will be a treat for them and a double treat for all you adults."

Starring are Betty Hutton, James Stewart, Cornel Wilde, Charlton Heston, Dorothy Lamour and Gloria Grahame. Mr. Griffiths, manager of the Royal theatre, recommends "The Greatest Show on Earth" as a diversion from the usual run of pictures and anticipates that it will break attendance records at the theatre. He states that it is an expensive film as far as the management is concerned, but despite this he is anxious that his patrons in Aurora and district should have an opportunity of seeing it. Times of showing are given on the advertisement appearing on other columns of Aurora News Page.

King City And District

We are indebted to Mr. Ray Burt, Mr. Bob McLeod, Mrs. Ivan Specht and Miss Norma Wells for special news items appearing in last week's issue of the Era and Express in the King section. They were read with interest and received very favourable comment. The correspondent was lucky to have friends submit copy, during vacation week.

Presentations to Operators

Pre-wedding gifts were made to two members of the King telephone staff on July 16 at the office. They were Marion Kelley who became the bride of Kenneth White on July 19 and Clare Magee whose marriage falls on Aug. 2. Marion was the recipient of a handsome table lamp, and Clare received a walnut end table. The presentations were made by Mrs. Bruce Hall, chief of the local staff. Others present were Betty Bice, Patsy Deane, Lenore Robb, Nora Scott and Mary O'Brien. The special cake, bearing the names of the two honouree guests, was served with ice cream following a delectable salad plate.

Mrs. White intends to continue her position until she and her husband become settled near Toronto. Miss Magee plans to remain on the staff after her marriage at Allan Bales until they are established in their own home.

John Riseborough and his sister Anne are having their vacation at Richmond Hill. They are visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Hawkes and Mr. and Mrs. Wright. On Sunday, their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Riseborough, and the children had evening dinner at the Hawkes' home when the Wrights and their two children, Mr. and Mrs. Fox all joined for the special occasion.

John Riseborough, Jr., aged 10, is recovering from a 12' fall while climbing a tree with his friend Tom Coe. Landing on his back he suffered bruises and has had difficulty trying to bend forward. The accident happened two nights before John was to appear with his companions in the King City Westling display.

Mr. Sinclair and his family spent most of the time with his wife's people at Belleville. On Sunday the Pierceys and Mrs. Sinclair called to see Mr. and Mrs. Britton Riddell, who also had their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Riddell of Aurora, as dinner guests. Rev. Sinclair was a student pastor of the King City, Second King and Kettleby Baptist circuit some years ago.

Alexander family were there as their mother was a Wingfield before her marriage.

With Mr. Hall and his wife were cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Campbell and Mr. Art Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Blackhall, and a sister of Mrs. Hall, Mrs. J. W. Robertson, her husband and three children, all of Toronto.

Gordon and Bruce motored Mrs. Gordon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ferguson, to Brechin on Sunday where they visited Mrs. Ferguson's brother, Mr. George Muir, and a sister, for the day. Lawn Party on Birthday

On Friday, July 25, Mrs. Harvey Follitt and her daughter, Mrs. Gladys Parker, were hostesses at a birthday party at the Follitt home, "Sunnie Acres", when Ronald Parker and his sister Carolyn celebrated their birthdays. The children played soft ball, with the older ones forming the teams captained by Jim Langdon and Peter Rawlings. There were games and races with prizes. Supper was served on the lawn under the shade of the large apple tree.

The guests who were able to be present were, Jim Langdon, Peter Rawlings, Willy and Carson John and Bobby Tetley, Michael Shatka, Larry Monkman, Clayton McKay, David McKay, Anna Dew, Jill Boile, Rosemary and Heather Davidson, Elaine Armitage, Mrs. Campbell McKay, Mrs. Gordon Tetley and Mrs. Adam Davidson. Among the gifts were a softball catcher's mitt, and a ball for Ronald and roller skates for Carolyn. She was thrilled with the skates she used them to make her way to Sunday school.

Will Play City Organ

Donald Rawlings, organist of All Saints Anglican Church, will take over the organ in Wychwood Presbyterian Church, St. Clair Ave., Toronto, for the month of August. He is supplying for Mr. Fred Clark, A.R.C.T., who will be on vacation.

Rev. D. C. Wotherspoon with his wife and three children are on holiday in the Haliburton district. Services in the Presbyterian charge are discontinued until Sunday, August 24.

Mrs. George Wilde of St. Catharines returned to her home on Monday after spending ten days with her friend, Mrs. Gordon Wells. She came for the McInnes-Wells wedding on July 19, remaining over for a visit.

It is good to know that Miss Marjorie Jarvis is back to normal health and will be able to have a change of surroundings at Muskoka in August, when her sister, Julia is on vacation at Buck Lake, near Huntsville. The time has passed very pleasantly for Miss Jarvis during her period of rest as her sister is at home during weekends. Lately the sisters have provided their annex dwelling for young men from Toronto who are newcomers to Canada. Stephen Watson of Kent, England, the son of a clergyman, who works with Ferguson tractors at Mimico, has been giving them a hand with odd jobs about Jarvacs. A young Hungarian and a boy from Finland, along with two Latvian young people have been cutting trees, and helping paint the house.

This hospitality is a boon to new Canadians who find rural weekends a real treat. By October 1, Miss Jarvis will rent the house to Mr. Gerry Gamble of Oak Ridge, who with his wife and two children will occupy the dwelling for six months. Miss Marjorie Jarvis will go to Toronto to live with Miss Julia until spring. Mrs. Gamble and the children are still in England where they have been visiting for several months and are expected to return early in October. Mr. Gamble has purchased a lot in the Kingsview subdivision and will build a home.

Pioneer Home Mover

It houses could tell their own stories, a 100-year-old dwelling at King City could relate many an interesting tale. The six-room frame structure, owned by Frank McCarthy in the residential Kingsview subdivision, was moved about 250 feet by a hoist and tractor trailer requiring but one hour to place it on a new site.

Nothing was removed from the building, except Mrs. McCarthy's "best cups and saucers". Everything remained undisturbed, dishes in the cupboards, and pictures on the walls. After it was placed on the new foundation, the McCarthy's went back into their home as if "nothing had happened."

Had Mr. N. P. Crossley and his wife, who built the house, been alive to see the undertaking they would no doubt have marvelled that machinery could do the job so well. However, they would not have been surprised that the stout virgin timbers had remained intact. The work of remodelling the home, which faces King Street, is taking place and the preservation of one of the district's oldest residences will be written into history when it is completed.

Attend Cadet Inspection

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jarvis attended inspection of officers cadet camp last Saturday at Camp Borden, where their son, Peter, is in training. The inspection was made by Major General Worthington, honorary colonel of the armored corps, whose personal sword was presented to the most outstanding cadet, the son of Hon. Paul Martin. Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis who are personal friends of Major General Worthington, renewed their acquaintance with him and his wife whom they had known at Winnipeg. They motored to Barrie Friday, remaining overnight with Mrs. R. J. Crossley and Miss Isabel Bird, sisters of Mrs. Jarvis. They were accompanied by Miss Mary Jane Walker who remained over Saturday night to attend the big dance with Cadet Jarvis.

Honors Bridal Couple

Recognizing the faithful service of a Sunday school superintendent and church official, the congregation of St. George's Presbyterian church paid tribute to Donald McCallum and his bride this month, on the presentation of a silver tea service as a wedding gift. Over 30 surprised the couple at their home in King City when Mr. Charles Black made the presentation and the minister, Rev. David Wother- spoon, gave an address suitable to the occasion. His remarks pointed to the Christian home in which Donald had been raised when his aunt, Mrs. Rhoda Farnen saw to it that he accompanied her to church and Sunday school from his childhood. Throughout the years, his endeavors in this regard are a backbone to the congregation whose high respect he has earned. The bride was welcomed by the congregation. Mrs. Fred Gray was accompanist for the music of the evening and Mrs. Whitley Finch gave readings. Refreshments concluded an enjoyable evening.

Issue Building Permits

King Township board of health has decided that building permits will be issued to owners of lots in the Oakridge Park subdivision that are suitable for installation of septic tanks. Where other sanitary installations are made, they must meet with the approval of the board of health before permits can be issued. The decision was reached recently after the board made inspection of all lots in the new subdivision located at Yonge Street and King sideroad. A percentage of these was declared unfit for use of septic tank installation. The board headed by Reeve Elton Armstrong, with M.

O. H. Dr. J. L. Urquhart, Dr. Ross Kenny, secretary H. G. Rose used the plan submitted by the owner of the subdivision to cover the inspection tour. C. H. Ross, building inspector, accompanied the board and has a plan indicating what lots are unsuitable for the installation of tanks.

Enroute to Continent

Miss Dorothy Armstrong is thoroughly enjoying her sight-seeing trip abroad and is receiving a few surprises. When she docked at Southampton, England, she was met by Miss Bohman, a sister of Mr. Reg Bohman, a soloist of the choir she directs at First Ave Baptist church, Toronto. At Waterloo station, London, she was greeted by two school teacher friends with whom she had travelled to California on a former vacation trip. They went to England last summer and liked it so well there they remained to teach for the term. They are now touring France on bicycles. Dorothy is thrilled with her University Tours expedition in company with others. She has seen England, visiting Stratford-on-Avon to see a Shakespearian Festival Play; has toured most of Scotland and was leaving for Holland on Wednesday this week. A letter to her mother was written from Mount Royal Hotel, Marble Arch, Eng., on July 15. When she arrived first at the port of Southampton she cabled her parents of her arrival.

Ross Rawlings and Phil Hobson had an exciting weekend when they motored 1,300 miles going to St. Lambert, Quebec, where they remained two days and nights, travelling along the Ottawa River to Pembroke, through Algonquin Park, to Huntsville before they returned home, very much sunburned. They were greatly interested in the amount of country-side they covered & spoke "their French" quite well in Quebec. Phil did the driving.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fleet and child Mrs. Marie Fleet, the children's grandmother. They made

Congregational Picnics

Summertime is picnic time and church congregations figure prominently in this respect. The Baptist congregations of King City, Kettleby and Pottageville turned out in large numbers for an outing at Inntsil Park, Lake Simcoe on July 15, to enjoy a program of sports and entertainment. Harry Gould captured the prize in the fashion parade and his wife Flossie won the walking race. Rev. Smalley and his wife were among the gathering, as were Rev. and Mrs. John Galloway of Port Hope, visitors of Miss Eliza Fisher of the King congregation. Mr. Galloway renewed friendships among those whom he had ministered to a few years previously.

Eversley community went all out 42 strong, not including the small babies, to journey to Woodland Park, Markham township, for a round of sports, on "land and in the sea". The older

The committee feels that a project of this type will meet with enthusiastic support.
